In conclusion, we humbly beg to express our aincere wish has should such a measure be necessary, the difference, which has should such a measure be two governments may be settled as en some former occasions, in the way of amicable reference to a third party, so that to both of our belowed countries may be long preserved the inestimable blessing of peace.

This address was signed by all classes of the inhabitants, Robert Robertson, the Provost and Chief Magistrate, being at the head; merchants, bankers, hotel heepers, manufacturers, clerks, beek sellers, lawyers, and those of all trades and professions. American Hotel at Havana

It has always been a matter of surprise, and the quescapitalists build a first class hotel at Havana?" Per haps there is no place upon the American continent where botel accommodations are more needed, or where a farture could be more easily or readily realized.

About the time of Jenny Lind's visit to Havana, son eve years ago, Mesers. Monot & Howard, of this city, and visited Havana with a view of ascertaining if the govern neursiens of the filibusters from the American side

United States and Havans-which, by the by, is always of the first class—these and other considerations have in of the are class—these and other considerations have in-duced several attempts by parties ainse, to obtain per-mission to build a hotel at Havana, but their efforts have always been met by the imposition of so many restric-tions and petty as novances on the part of the govern-ment as to virtually amount to prohibition. Captain acker, of the Saint Nicholas Hetel, who has just returned from Havana, says, that General Concha has Captain Acker, of the Saint Nicholas Hetel, who has just returned from Havana, saye, that General Concha has given parmission to Messra. Treadwell, Acker & Co. to build any kind of a hotel they please, and that they be allowed to bring their own building materials, furniture, provisions and everything necessary for constructing and sarrying on a hotel after completed, free of duty.

A very desirable site has been selected which can be had upon very favorable terms, quite near the Captain-Reneral's palace, and not very far from the Taxon Opera Rouse.

is to come off at the City Assembly Rooms this evening. It premises to be the finest yet given. Mr. Theo. Thomas, the superb violinist, the members of the Arion Choral Society, and other distinguished musicians are to perform Among the pieces selected for the occasion is the great Pilgrine horus from the opens of "Tannhaeuser," also, the chorus from the "Magic Flute," Schubert's symphony in C major, and, for the first time in this country, the overture "Le Carnival Romain," by Berlioz.

The OTERA.—The Academy of Music is announced to re-pen next Wednesday, under the direction of the popular mastro, Max Maretzek, on which occasion Verdi's opera of "Ernani" will be produced with a east embracing the names of the highly distinguished and popular vocasist, Madame De Laifrange; Signor Bolcoin, his first appearance; Signori Morelli, Coletti and others.

Enoadway Theatre.—Those great favorites with the New York public, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams, will commence an engagement at the Broadway to-morrow commence an engagement at the Broadway to-morrow evening. Both appear in the comedicta called "The Irish Lion," after which Mrs. W. plays some four or five characters in the sprightly farce entitled "In and Out of Place." The anusements close with the very laughable affair called "Barney, the Baron"—Mr. Williams as the hero. As the house will doubtless be crowded, as usual during their engagement, the box-book has been opened three days in advance. NIRLO'S GARDEN .- The Ravels will to-morrow evening bring out a comic pantomime entitled "The Conscript," which is reported to have been got up with the usus; which is reported to have been got up with the usus; nare and taste that characterize this popular establishment. Mile Robert and the ballet troupe perform in "Trypsichore," and the entertainments close with the favorite pantomime called "M. Deckalumeaux," is which Francois has a capital part. By the toregoing it will be seen that the acting managers are determined to keep up the popularity of this house during Mr. Nielo's absence. They are entitled to all praise for their industry and entermise.

Bowert Theatre.—If the large audiences assembled within this time-honored dramatic temple during the past two nights can be taken as a sample of what are to follow, Manager Waldron will have the satisfaction of handling the proceeds of an unusually profitable season; and there is no good reason for supposing that the reverse will be realized, particularly when such attractions are put forth as are offered for to-morrow evening, viz: the exciting and parricile drama of "Laftie." and the gorgeous and always popular spectacle of "Aladdin," in which Mr. and Mrs. Prior and other good ar lets will perform.

BURTON'S THEATRE. -This establishment is just as prosperous as ever-house always full, and everybody in good perous as ever—house always full, and everybody in good humor. To-morrow evening the charming somedy called "Laugh When You Can," Mr. Burton in his great part of Bonus, Mr. Perry as Gossamer, Mrs. Hugnes as Miss Gloemly, and Miss. Parker as Mrs. Mortimer. Mr. Burton, Mrs. Howard and other favorites afterwards play in the amusing extravaganza styled "Gansm." "That Biesesé Baby," Mr. Bunton as the distressed but happy parent, closes the performances. The new comedy entitled, "Tis Ill Playing with Edged Tools" will seen be presented.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—Large and critical audier tinue to assemble every night for the purpose of witness og the distinguished actor, Mr. Wallack, in his principa ong the distinguished actor, Mr. Wallack, in his principal characters, and, what is still more flattering, the desire to see him is undiminished, notwithstanding he has performed for eighteen consecutive nights. To morrow eveninghe will personate Erasumus Bookworm, in the comedy called "The Scholar," supported by Messra. Brougham, Walcot, Norton and Stewart, Mrs. Vernon and Miss Gannon. "The Little Treasure" will follow-characters by Mr. Lester, Miss Gannon, Mrs. Hoey, Mrs. Vernon, &c.

secipient of not only the kind regards, but the money, of a generous public, who have thus far handsomely agenerous public, who have thus far handsomely re-warded her for the enterprise she has displayed as a manager, and the great taions she has evinced as an ar-tist. As a general actress she is universally acknowledged to be at the head of the list, and in many characters she is without a rival. Her acting in 'Camille' which is to be played again to-morrow evening, has been highly sulogized by probably as large, discriminating and fashiomable audiences as ever assembled. "Nevelty" is the atterpiece, for the forty fifth time.

BROADWAY VARIETIES .- This snug little theatra has been densely crowded throughout the week by audiences who have most enthusiastically applauded the wonderful who have most enthusianteany apparated the wonderful acting of the Wood and Marsh children. Unfortunately, the house has sendon been of sufficient dimensions to hold all who have applied for admission, and many have been compelled to leave the door in disappointment. Would it not be to the interest of the managers to secure a larger place? Were their present hall three times larger, it is doubtful whether it would accommodate those who desire to see the juveniles. "The Golden Farmer?" and "Lean of a Lover?" to-merrow.
